

101 Snapshots FROM...

DATE

Remember the guy you met while waiting for the subway in New York City who lived in your hometown? Or do you remember the October weekend you and your family were taking an evening stroll at Seacrest Beach, and a skinny teenaged boy dressed as Elmo stopped and asked if you could take a picture of him at the beach for their Halloween scavenger hunt party? Or the street performer in New Orleans who dropped to one knee and proposed to you on Valentine's Day? These are the small snapshots that are easy to forget but make your travels so unique.
